THE LIGHT OF COGNITIVE ISNESS

[File W014 light of cognitive isness.PDF Begins]

We have the light of the cognitive isness which presides over the mind-body continuum and brings the image(s) (for everything which operates essentially produces an images [sic] of itself) - superimposing meaning onto the apparition supplied by the body which is part of the existential world and within which modifications occur that are part and parcel of that world. Therefore the animal body - a cluster or organization of archetypes or tropes intentionally organized and which is the orientation point for the soul in the world or existence. The world including the body - and which is the whole system of nature for the soul - is brought into existence by matter and whatever it is in itself is not our concern here but by its operations and functioning we are assured of its existence. So the cosmic soul fabricates the plurality of bodies that are ultimately from prakriti (Saturn in Capricorn) but it supplies the essences or gives form to the matter which contains the operational principles to become these forms (ie body-mind). Since matter is ultimately incorporeal and permits existence to be multifarious but is in its own nature void of any ultimate determinations - in short as the principle of difference it is empty (no-self-nature) and the forms or essences it becomes which are varied and interdependent (instantiation) and non-existent (ie above existence) form a body
